"Coky" Kress is surrounded by admirers as she waits in Appomattox for trip home, following a visit to the doctor. Coky was lost for 17 hours but apparently suffered no ill effects.

"Coky" Kress Found After All - Night Search

"Here she is!" shouted Sgt. Johnnie D. Spencer of the Lynchburg National Guard, and thus ended an all - night search for Verna Marie ("Coky") Kress, of Evergreen Community last Saturday morning.

The two year old Coky was lost from about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon to 7:40 a.m. Saturday when she was found about a mile from her home, according to a personal report made to the TIMES by the local Rescue Squad Captain, Kenneth W. Jamerson.

After being picked up and returned to her parents' home, Coky was brought to Appomattox, checked by Dr. J. A. Mallory, and returned home, apparently unharmed from her night's sleep on the ground beside two 3 month old beagle puppies.

Hundreds Volunteer

Capt. Jamerson spoke highly of the cooperation among more than 150 volunteers Friday night, and 300 National Guardsmen who assisted Saturday morning in the search.

Rescue Squads from Lynchburg Danville, Altavista, Bedford, Amherst, and Appomattox, together with Appomattox Town, County, and Virginia State Police joined local citizens in the search for the little girl, youngest of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. George Kress, of Evergreen.

Because telephone service between Appomattox and Lynchburg was disrupted about 7:30 p.m. Friday, all communications during the search were carried out by citizen band radio, and other 2 - way radio contacts with State Police Division Headquarters, Jamerson said.

Mother Out Shopping

Coky wandered off from her 10 year old brother, Jimmy while her mother was shopping for groceries in Evergreen.

Capt. Jamerson said that thick brush and rough terrain hampered all searchers.

A crowd gathered outside the Rescue Squad ambulance in downtown Appomattox Saturday morning to see Coky. The little girl had not a word to say, but she did munch on a large candy bar given her by the ambulance driver and hugged her doll for the TIMES photographer.

Farmville Bank To Open Branch At Pamplin

The First National Bank at Farmville announced today it will open a branch at Pamplin City.

E. Waller Sanford, executive vice-president, said that with the required approval of the Comptroller of the Currency in Washington now at hand, construction of new branch banking premise will proceed as soon as building plans are completed.

Sanford said the bank hopes to have the branch in operation within about four months

Pamplin Branch

The branch at Pamplin City will provide complete banking service, including loans, safe deand the normal checking and savings.

The branch at Pamplin will be located at the eastern edge within the corporate limits and just off the highway on the north side of Route 460.

Ruritan Survey

The Ruritan Club of Pamplin was active in the negotiations for the branch. Its committee having originally approached officers of the Farmville bank on the possibility of establishing the facility. A Ruritan Club survey conducted for the bank indicated the demand for banking services there.

"The results of the survey were so favorable that the bank immediately made application to the Chief National Bank Examiner in Richmond for permission to open the branch," Sanford said today.

The application was forwarded to Washington for approval by the federal comptroller after a National bank Examiner investigated the application during visits for that purpose at Pamplin City and verified the Ruritan survey finds.

Rebels Top Nelson County 13-0 Friday

by Walter H. Carson
Ass't Coach, AHS

AHS REBELS scored two quick touchdowns in the first quarter last Friday night to rank past Nelson County GOVERNORS 13-0.

The REBEL eleven was paced by G. H. Jamerson who scored both REBEL touchdowns on runs of 20 and 28 yards. Billy Burke and Jimmy Torrence were also important men in the drives to the goal line.

After the first quarter, the

Jayvees Play

JAYVEES of Appomattox High played the Virginia Episcopal Church team yesterday in Lynchburg. Saturday night, Oct. 13, they play William Campbell at Charlotte Court House. Game time is 8 p.m.

DAR To Meet

The Appomattox Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution will hold its regular meeting on Monday, October 15, in the home of Mrs. Stuart Farrar at Pamplin, at 3:00 p.m. Mrs. Farrar, Miss Kate Franklin and Mrs. C. D. Wayne will be hostesses. All members are urged to be present.

Dudley To Lead Scout Drive

W. C. Dudley will lead the annual Appomattox county fund appeal to support the Boy Scouts of America program during 1963. The appeal is part of the 14-county Piedmont Area Council independent fund campaign to raise approximately $30,000.

The Council's 1963 budget has been set at $70,824, but $50,425 of that sum is provided through Community Chests and United Funds in the Cities of Lynchburg, Danville and Altavista and the Counties of Halifax, Charlotte and Prince Edward.

Appomattox county is part of the 11-county Council area without Community Chest campaigns in which the $20,399 balance of the Council's 1963 needs will be raised.

Local county campaigns will be running concurrently with that of Appomattox this month in four other counties of the Powhatan Arrow District of Piedmont Area Council. These will be in Buckingham, Cumberland, Nottoway and Lunenburg. Prince Edward and Charlotte, which contribute through their Chest appeals complete the seven-county district.

1961 Results

Last year, the annual appeal in the Powhatan Arrow District raised $4,840, a sum which Council leaders say must be surpassed this year if the area is to contribute its proportionate share in supporting the Scouting program.

Local campaigns will emphasize greater effort in non-Community Chest areas in this campaign. The Council's annual budget has not been met for several years, despite the fact that Lynchburg and Danville alone have provided over half of the annual $70,000 operating costs.

Contributions through local county campaigns help to support the five full time Scout field executives in Piedmont Area Council. They also maintain the service staff in the Council headquarters at Lynchburg.

The Council also provides program tools and helps; maintains all unit and individual advancement records; receives and distributes materials, literature, badges and 'Boy's Life' magazines.

The Council professional staff of five directs training and camping programs for both Scouts and adult leaders, secures unit facilities and sponsors and in general backs up the efforts of the far-flung volunteer work of adult leaders in troops and district organizations. The Council also maintains Camp Monocan in Nelson county.

Local Units

Appomattox county, in addition to present Scout units, is starting new units at Pamplin, Oakville and Evergreen which will bring in about 150 additional boys.

At present, the Scouting program in Powhatan Arrow District is serving about one boy in six who need the Scouting program. Drive leaders point out the independent county campaigns must succeed better than in the past if the youth are to be served, and if the Community Chest areas are to continue their staunch support.

The Council campaign fell about $8,000 short of its budgeted goal last year, and sustained itself through borrowing. The figures show the deficit has been accumulating in the independent campaign counties, which have not supported the Council in the same proportion as the Chest communities.

Dudley, the 1962 campaign leader, is regional supervisor of vocational agriculture, State Department of Education. He is a veteran of 36 years in Scouting as a Scout and adult leader.

Survey Mapping Completed For Fuel Pipeline In County

Company Plans Yard-Wide Pipeline

Preliminary maps have been drawn for a proposed fuel oil pipe line through the southeastern tip of Appomattox County, according to an engineer and crew who spent the last two weeks in this area working on the project.

M. W. Secord, together with his crew from Bartenstein and Associates, Manassas, Va., completed some map making here last Friday, Oct. 5. This involved map making from preliminary surveys made by another firm Ford, Bacon, and Davis, of Richmond.

The men also checked on various deeds to county property at the County Court House.

Possible Route Changes

Secord, when interviewed by the TIMES - VIRGINIAN, reported that these maps are only a part of the preliminary plans, and that changes may be made by the company which hired his firm of engineers.

Builder of the proposed fuel line is Colonial Pipeline Company of Atlanta, Ga. Here are excerpts from a booklet given each landowner contacted in the first survey.

"The Southeastern and Middle new underland transportation Atlantic States are to have a artery — the Colonial Pipeline Company. . . It will be a common carrier, buried in the ground transporting oil products —gasoline, fuel oils, diesel oils, and kerosene from Gulf Coast refineries in the Houston-Beaumont-Port Arthur and Lake Charles areas of Texas and Louisiana to distributing points in the south and east."

The project is similar to World War II's "Big Inch" and "Little Inch" pipelines carrying crude oil and other products from Texas to the north. This, however, is by private enterprise entirely, and the proposed pipe will be 56 inches at its maximum compared with 24 inch and 20 inch maximum size for the oldgr lines.

No price has been offered officially as yet by the "right of way men." Local reports list a possible price of $1 a rod length (16½ ft.).

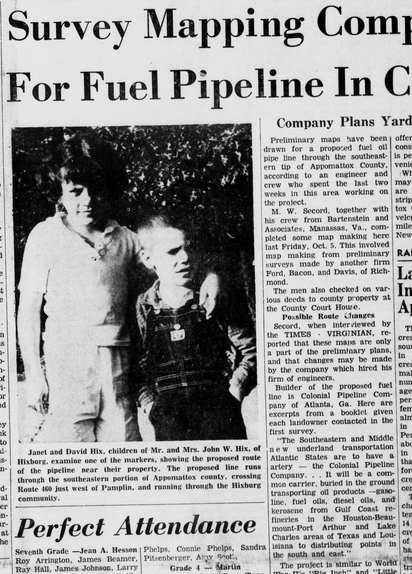
Secord reported that the pipeline itself will cost $50,000 a mile, and Colonial's information booklet says that "a good weather and over reasonably good terrain it can progress a mile a day."

Reactions among county landowners are mixed. John W. Hix, Route 1, Pamplin, stated to the TIMES that he believes new industry means new profits to everyone. He cited the Trans Continental Gas Co. and Pumping Station as an example.

As to price, he said that the reported $1 a rod is "fair enough" since the land involved can be used for other purposes once the pipeline is laid.

Another farmer said that he feels landowners should hire attorneys to make sure of any proposals, and that the reported offering price is not high enough, considering that the installation is permanent with possible inconvenience to landowners later on.

Whatever the various opinions may be, bright colored markers are posted over a long, straight strip of southeastern Appomattox County, awaiting further developments on Colonial's 1600 miles of pipeline from Texas to New York.



Janet and David Hix, children of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hix, of Hixburg, examine one of the markers, showing the proposed route of the pipeline near their property. The proposed line runs through the southeastern portion of Appomattox county, crossing Route 460 just west of Pamplin, and running through the Hixburg community.

4-H, FFA, FHA Win Awards At Farm Show

Almost 100 ribbons, awards, and other prizes were claimed by Appomattox County young people at the conclusion of the Lynchburg Farm Show, Saturday, Oct. 6.

This annual event, free of charge, was called the "most successful" by its director, Jack J. Andrews, secretary of the Lynchburg Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored the event.

Appomattox young people won out against competition from 14 counties which join in the event. A complete listing of prize winners will be published soon in the TIMES-VIRGINIAN.

RAD Report:

Labor Force Increases In Appomattox

There has been a marked increase in our total labor resources in Appomattox County in recent years. This big increase is seen mainly in the female labor force. Since 1950 the number of females, 14 years of age and over, has increased 250 persons. The percentage of these females in our labor force has almost doubled, from 588 persons in 1950 to 1,152 persons in 1960. Percentage wise, this represents about 50 per cent of all females in the 14 years and over group that are in our female labor force. This represents an increase of approximately 30 per cent since 1950.

The male labor resources has changed very little in the past ten years. The number of males 14 years old and over has increased slightly and the number of these males in the labor force has decreased about 2 per cent since 1950. This is quite a contrast compared to the female labor force.

It was quite interesting to learn from compiling these figures that Appomattox County has a total labor force, made up of females, of 3,669 persons. This represents 40 per cent of our total population of 9,140 persons. It is also quite interesting to note that out of the 3669 persons in our labor force, 25.3 per cent or 854 persons are employed outside of our county.

Fortunately, these people still reside in our county but in years to come, if we as civic minded and interested citizens, don't make our county more attractive to secure industry for our labor force, some of these people will be moving closer to their places of employment. If this happens then naturally we have a decrease in population and loss of revenue from taxes.

The following trends seem to be indicated by population and employment statistics:

1 — Number of full - time farmers has been steadily decreasing.

2 —Farms and farm operations have grown larger without the use of more man power, in the 14 years and over group that are in our female labor force. This represents an increase of approximately 30 per cent since 1950.

3 — Men working in manufacturing and industry — primarily in Lynchburg has been increasing rather rapidly.
